

Essential viewing for NQTs

Teachers' TV is the digital TV channel for everyone working in schools in England. Featuring real teachers in real classroom situations, our programmes provide an opportunity to share ideas and benefit from other teachers' experience. There are programmes for everyone, whatever subject you teach or role you play in school. Programmes include reviews of resources, pupil programmes you can record and show later in the classroom, and much more.

You can watch programmes on TV or online whenever and wherever you want.

What does Teachers' TV offer NQTs?

Newly qualified teachers will find lots of programmes specifically targeted to their interests and needs. Many programmes follow NQTs during different stages of their induction year as they react to common situations or work to improve their skills. This revealing window into other classrooms often includes advice from the NQT's induction tutor or mentor.

There are also programmes focusing on practical tasks such as lesson planning, time management, behaviour management, dealing with parents, assessment and lesson observation and much more.

You'll also find general interest content, such as news, documentaries and careers advice. The schedule is easy to understand and fits in with busy teachers' lives.

Where can I find out more?

For full details on forthcoming programmes, plus support materials including lesson plans, visit www.teachers.tv.

Register online and you can be alerted by email to programmes that will interest you. You'll also be able to download programmes from the online video library, which already contains over 400 programmes.

Full listings also appear each week in the TES and every two months in the DfES Teachers magazine.

Discounts on digital TV

Get Teachers' TV is a scheme that offers discounted access to digital TV for people who work in schools. For more information, visit www.get.teachers.tv.

Teachers' TV is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week on Sky Guide 592, ntl 803, Telewest 240, Homechoice 845 and KIT 70. Also broadcast overnight for recording on Freeview 47 (12-6am).

For programme times,
go to www.teachers.tv

Programmes for NQTs

Here's just a small selection of programmes for NQTs on Teachers' TV. Many more are available - go to www.teachers.tv to see what's on.

Primary Zone

Primary NQTs: Work/Life Balance

Follow two NQTs at inner-city schools during autumn term. With different strategies for behaviour management, how will each respond to the pressures of a new environment? TES columnist Sara Bubb concludes with solutions to common problems NQTs face.

Primary NQTs: Being Assessed

An examination of assessment and lesson observation for primary NQTs, followed by health tips for teachers and a look at support roles. Finally, behaviour management expert Sue Cowley visits a school where pupils help make the rules.

Secondary Zone

Secondary NQTs: Feedback and Behaviour Management

An NQT giving lessons in Business Studies has his first formal lesson observation. Another teaching languages wants to improve her classroom management skills. Watch as both demonstrate their teaching styles and then receive expert feedback.

Secondary NQTs: Differentiation

The first of these four programmes offers advice on adapting teaching techniques to suit the requirements of individual pupils. This is followed by programmes on managing teacher-parent relations, improving teachers' well-being and dealing with disruptive behaviour.

General Zone

Teaching with Bayley: Ecoutez!

A newly qualified languages teacher has difficulty communicating with her Year 9 group. Teaching consultant John Bayley reviews her lesson and gives advice such as modulating her voice, writing more clearly on the whiteboard, and delivering effective praise.

Ease the Load: Start the Year Here

The first episode of a new series in which Emma Wilkinson helps teachers and headteachers find ways to lighten their workloads. Among the teachers featured is Will Jenkins, an NQT this time last year, relating his experiences and revealing how he is preparing for his second year.

Want to know more?

Email info@teachers.tv if you have any queries, or want a copy of the Teachers' TV listings magazine or wall chart.