

A review of the Christmas Gift

I have read the story of the Christmas Gift, my personal thoughts were...

- When the baby died in the story I felt sad but happy at the end when the stranger brought the baby back to life.
- When John said there was food on the table I felt a bit hungry for a second.
- My favourite part was when the stranger brought the baby back to life because I felt a rush of joy running down my spine.

I would read it if I was you to see what you think!
