

A book review of The Christmas Gift

When I heard the story of 'The Christmas Gift' I nearly cried. It's a touching and a mystical story about a man called John and a woman called Jessie. It had a good use of adjectives and similes. I liked the story and anybody who reads it will too! My favourite part was when John and Jessie baby didn't wake up and the stranger who came made a miracle and the baby woke up, the stranger then said 'the baby was never dead, he never lived'.
